Did You Know They Glow?

If you see a note in the description that reads “Glow in the Dark” that means it’s a glass jellyfish that will indeed glow! After hours of exposure to light, the design will glow a blue/green hue when viewed in the dark.

248 SPI HOME © 2021

After hours of exposure to light, the design will glow a blue/green hue when viewed in the dark.

The image shows two jellyfish-like structures, one large and one small, glowing with a blue/green hue in a dark environment. The large jellyfish on the left has a bell-shaped top and long, trailing tentacles. The smaller jellyfish on the right is also bell-shaped with shorter tentacles. Both are illuminated from within, creating a bioluminescent effect. The background is dark, making the glowing structures stand out.

Our artisans add phosphorescent powders to the molten glass to give these jellyfish the ability to glow in the dark. Due to the handmade nature of the product, the duration and intensity of the glow will vary.
