EN VOGUE NAIL PRODUCTS ARE “9 FREE”

Why should this be important in choosing nail products? We will give you 9 good reasons...

- 1. Toluene is a liquid solvent that smells like paint thinner. You can be exposed to toluene by breathing it in or getting it on your skin, causing skin irritation.
- 2. Dibutyl Phthalate is a commonly used plasticizer and has been linked to cancer.
- 3. Formaldehyde is a commonly used chemical preservative. Its vapors can be irritating and can trigger asthma. It is also a known human carcinogen, a factor directly involved in causing cancer.
- 4. Formaldehyde Resin is a derivative of Formaldehyde, mainly used in the production of coatings and adhesives. It is not as toxic as Formaldehyde but can be an allergen.
- 5. Camphor, this chemical acts as a cover on your nails, depriving them of nutrients and causing yellow staining on your nails.
- 6. Xylene is irritating to the skin, eyes, and respiratory tract. It can cause systemic toxicity by ingestion or inhalation.
- 7. TPHP is a chemical used in plastics to improve flexibility. A handful of animal studies have suggested that it could be an endocrine disrupter which affects your hormones.
- 8. Parabens, these are preservatives that have gotten a bad rep for their estrogen-mimicking effects, which past research has suggested may trigger major health concerns like hormonal problems.
- 9. Ethyl Tosylamide is a plasticizer that helps transform polish from drippy to dry in minutes. This ingredient has already been barred from personal care products in Europe due to its antibiotic properties and concern over antibiotic resistance.
